

Older: How do you decide if you have value or not?

Newer:

The magic wand of instant change... aka manifestation by Sophie Benshitta Maven — Category: context is decisive, Healing, Raise your vibration — June 5, 2016 edit Click to comment

Context is one of those words that unless you have enough capacities, especially the big picture capacity, is impossible to explain... at least it's been impossible for me to explain to you.

And yet, if you want to improve the quality of your life, the magic wand to do that is context.

You change the context and everything changes with it.

Your default context is, the context that is invisible to you, but obvious to everyone around you is not pretty. That is where you live... in that context.

But, you see, context is not something that if you understand then it becomes available to you...

In fact it is much like playing the violin: you can understand playing the violin... but that will not make you play the violin.

You need to DISTINGUISH for yourself, playing the violin, through playing the violin.

Maddening, isn't it?

Distinguishing is not a mental exercise, it is a mental-spiritual-awareness-doing exercise.

And you may be good at mental... you may be good at doing, but you definitely lack in spiritual awareness... you don't even know if they eat it or drink it, you are so unaware.

And another thing about distinguishing: examples don't distinguish anything... the opposite is true: distinguishing give you examples, a ton of them.

So, does this mean that people who can distinguish will leave you in the dust, leave you to continue to live in the world of quiet desperation?

That is what it means. I am sorry.

All people are not created equal: some have more capacities than others...

The world is inherently not egalitarian... and if you don't have the capacities, you don't have them.

And most likely, if I turned on the missing capacities, you would not be able to hold onto them.

In my recent focus on rebuilding health I have seen the monumental effect health has on your intelligence, on your vibration...

But, you see, the chances that the state of your health is above 10% is slim... I have tested enough people to say this with certainty.

And with low health number comes incoherence, and with incoherence comes low comprehension, and there you have it.

Action without understanding is insufficient to distinguish anything.

Understanding without action is insufficient to distinguish anything.

Action without courage, a spiritual capacity, is action for action's sake.

When you have the ambition to lift yourself out of the aimless, purposeless existence of the sea of quiet desperation of the masses of humanity, you need to go through a lot of steps before you can come to your power.

You do have the power... but it's not available to you, because you are not coherent, you are not well, and you can't tell your ass from a hole in the ground.

I know it sounds crude and rude... but it is the truth... and it is the truth for nearly every single person on the planet, to one degree or another.

Unless your vibration is around 1000, you are still only in degrees differ from the masses of humanity.

That includes me.

The difference between you and me is degrees.

I've been where you are...

So, what does it mean to you if you are already a student of mine?

It means that unless you get well, I won't keep you as a student.

And what does it mean to you if you want to be a student?

It means that you need to get well, or you will stay dull and incoherent, like you are.

I know, I know, you think you are sharp as a tack... Well, maybe not. Probably not.

I am going to do workshops on creating context, distinguishing context, waving the magic wand.

And I will only invite people who qualify...

You know all those gurus that claim to attract whatever they goddamn want? That write books about financial freedom, and abundance, and such?

If and when they actually do attract, they have one thing that you don't: clarity, context, and coherence.

Without those... attraction is a b.s. concept, not available to the masses.

So, it's really up to you! I am OK if you stay where you are.

I am not the Knight in Shining Armor, not the Savior, not the Messiah, I am a guide, a coach, and you need to be ready for my guidance.

First things first:

Let's find out where you are at? OK?

Ask for your evaluation measurements. I'll muscle test your your vibration your overall IQ including your intelligence the number of spiritual capacities you have your soul correction (your machine) do you have attachments?

the level of your health

If you bought these tests separately, you'd pay $30... but buying them all at once, I knock off $15.

Click on the paypal button to send me a donation to get your starting point measurements. I'll let you know in my email response, if you could ask for a comprehensive health evaluation, OK?

Donate

After you pay, please wait to be forwarded to a website to register. If you are a member of my freebies subscribers' site, please log in through the "already a member" link on the registration page... If you mess up, I'll do it manually for you.

There is a whole dimension to life that you have not experienced, or that you have lost...

Related Posts:

- Just because someone's vibration is low today...
- Call me blunt, call me judgmental... I don't care.
- Get well first. I can't take people to spiritual growth unless they are well
- Happy New Year! New webinar to help you grow one step at a time...
- Really want to raise your vibration? Let's look at your actions, not your words...

Tags: Abundance, savior, Courage, spiritual capacity, response

Tags: context is decisive · Healing · Raise your vibration